

From the IATSE Education & Training Department:

The IATSE Green Committee has partnered with Green Spark Group – a sustainability agency that provides training for entertainment productions – to provide a free course to IATSE members titled “The Spark: Your Sustainable Production Primer.” The Primer is an online introduction to Sustainability mindset on motion picture and television production. The course will explore the topics of materials, food and hydration, energy, fuel, and waste in an effort to advance sustainable production practices in response to growing concerns over climate change. The class is online and designed to be completed at your own pace at a time that is convenient for you.

IATSE members are invited to sign up through the Green Spark Group website at: <https://www.greensparkgroup.com/knowledge-hub>. Use the code PIATSE100 for free access. Space is limited.
