TO THE ICG PUBLICISTS OF IATSE LOCAL NO. 600

Dear Sisters and Brothers:

Throughout these trying times solidarity is more important than ever. We have endured great struggle during this global pandemic, yet we remain united in the basic principle that together we are strong and resilient, and that the future will be better and brighter.

The work of the Publicists remains critical in the success of motion picture and television productions. The union is proud of the work you do. I remain committed to standing beside you in facing the challenges the future brings.

Best regards and in solidarity,

Matthew D. Loeb

JOHN LINDLEY LETTER

Welcome to the 2022 Publicists' Awards. It feels good to be together in one place again. The last time I attended an in person Publicist luncheon was in 2020. I remember getting in a crowded elevator with a bunch of strangers, none of whom seemed to know one another. By the time, we traveled a few floors, business cards had been exchanged, coffee and lunch dates arranged and we all scattered into the room with new connections. That was further evidence, if anyone needed it, of Publicist DNA and virtual meetings will never be a strand of that helix. But for two plus years, as the Local has so often focused on the return to work on our sets, the Pubs have continued to do their work any way they can, and successfully gathered audiences to see our entertainment output virtually and sometimes in person. Today, we celebrate their tenacity, their stamina and their unrivaled skills which only increased during the most trying times in our industry. Thank you to all of our Publicists, today and every day. Without you, all the work done by the rest of us might go unseen.

There was a time when MGM boasted that they had more stars than there were in the heavens. Well, today studios don't own actors, but they do have films and this has been a stellar time for the fabled studio with many of the year's most acclaimed motion pictures. These include Licorice Pizza, Cyrano, House of Gucci, Candyman, The Addams Family 2, Flag Day, Wrath of Man, Respect and No Time to Die.

Cary Joji Fukunaga's No Time to Die earned $774 million globally, becoming one of the biggest grossing Hollywood releases of last year.

MGM picked up eight Oscar® nominations, including Best Picture for Licorice Pizza in their first slate since DeLuca and Abdy came to the studio in 2020. Paul Thomas Anderson's Licorice Pizza is MGM's first true Best Picture nomination since Rain Man back in 1988. They have also received 17 BAFTA nominations.

MGM's 2022 film slate kicked off with Channing Tatum and Reid

Caroline's Dog, which has earned more than $40 million at the box office and counting. Upcoming releases include Ron Howard's Thirteen Lives, George Miller's Three Thousand Years of Longing and Michael B. Jordan's directorial debut Creed III.

Michael De Luca steers all aspects of the studio's global film operation including oversight of development, production, marketing and distribution of MGM's film slate, including Orion Motion Pictures. Additionally, DeLuca oversees MGM's On-Stage production division. He is also on the board of United Artists Releasing, the studio's domestic theatrical distribution joint venture with Annapurna Pictures. Pam Abdy oversees development, production and post-production for all MGM and Orion films.

Shortly after arriving at the studio, De Luca and Abdy created a new film division at MGM, under the Orion Pictures banner, to make films exclusively focused on – and brought to us by – underrepresented voices. Upcoming releases from Orion Pictures include Sarah Polley’s Women Talking, Chinonye Chukwu’s Till, and Billy Porter’s Anything’s Possible.

As part of MGM’s commitment to fostering new voices in cinema, the studio partnered with The Black List to launch a two-year feature film script writing partnership to discover new voices with unique perspectives from historically underrepresented communities around the world. Together MGM and The Black List are committed to identifying new writers who want to tell original stories with universal appeal for the big screen. To date, they have announced two writer who received a two-step Guild minimum blind script deal and the opportunity to work with MGM on their film.

FX'S RESERVATION DOGS' STERLIN HARJO AND TAIKA WAITITI

Sterlin Harjo and Taika Waititi are co-creators and executive producers of FX's groundbreaking Reservation Dogs, the first TV series to feature an all-Indigenous team of writers, directors and series regulars. This first-of-its-kind creative team tells a story that resonates with them and their lived experiences – and invites audiences into a surprisingly familiar and funny world.

While Harjo and Waititi come from opposite sides of the world (Taika from New Zealand; Sterlin from Oklahoma), they met through Bird Runningwater at the Sundance Institute's Native American and Indigenous Program and quickly discovered similar sensibilities. Tired of seeing stereotyped portrayals of Natives "standing on the mountaintop blowing a flute or talking to a tree," they set out to create a comedy that highlighted the humor, resilience and beauty of their communities.

Waititi won the Oscar® for adapted screenplay for Jojo Rabbit (2019), which was also nominated for Best Picture.

He is executive producer of the critically-acclaimed FX series What We Do in the Shadows and directed Thor: Ragnarok (2017). Harjo has directed five feature films: three narrative dramas and two documentaries. His most recent film, Love and Fury, a look at contemporary Native identity and art, premiered at The Hot Docs Canadian International Documentary Festival.

Reservation Dogs is a half-hour comedy that follows the exploits of four

Indigenous teenagers in rural Oklahoma who steal, rob and save in order to get to the exotic, mysterious and faraway land of California. After the death of their friend Daniel one year prior, the gang wrestles with a desire to move to California, the way Daniel dreamed. To succeed, they will have to save enough money, outmaneuver shady characters at the local junkyard, constantly dodge a conspiracy-obsessed tribal policeman and survive a turf war against a much tougher rival gang. Starring are Devery Jacobs (Elora Danan), D'Pharaoh Woon-A-Tai (Bear), Paulina Alexis (Willie Jack) and Lane Factor (Cheese).

This is the first series to be shot entirely in Oklahoma. It was filmed almost entirely on land of the Muscogee Nation, bringing a strong sense of authenticity.

Reservation Dogs landed on 80+ critics' year-end best lists, was named one of AFI's Television Programs of the Year, won The Gotham Award for "Breakthrough Series" and recently picked up two Independent Spirit Awards for "Best New Scripted Series" and "Best Ensemble Cast." It is a Writers Guild of America nominee for Best New Series.

Critics have lauded it with a 98% "fresh" on Rotten Tomatoes. The New Yorker gave it a rave review, calling it "a near-perfect study of dispossession" stating "the show may boast the single most exciting cast of the fall television season."

FX's Reservation Dogs premiered on Hulu on August 9, 2021, which was International Day of the World's Indigenous People. It has been renewed for a second season.

Apocalypse Now

Francis Ford Coppola receives this award appropriately on the 50th anniversary of the release of The Godfather. An auteur and innovator in complete command of the medium, his seminal works also include The Conversation (1974), The Godfather, Part Two (1974), and Apocalypse Now (1979). The Library of Congress selected all four titles for the National Film Registry and three of the four appear on AFI's 100 Years...100 Movies best films list. Taken together, Coppola's films have garnered 14 Academy Awards, eight BAFTAS, 10

Golden Globes, two Cannes Palmes d'Or, and the Academy's prestigious Irving G. Thalberg Memorial Award honoring the filmmaker as well as the actors, cinematographers, editors and other craftspeople with whom he has collaborated.

Through the studio he co-founded with George Lucas in 1969, American Zoetrope, Coppola produced or executive produced many artistically memorable films including Black Stallion, Powaqqatsi, and Mishima: A Life in Four Chapters, and helped launch the careers of such notable directors as Carroll Ballard, George Lucas, and John Milius. Zoetrope was also a key pioneer of previsualization (Coppola coined the term), HD, electronic editing, and using the Ethernet for inter-departmental communications.

Coppola (82) first made his mark in entertainment as a writer, penning the adapted scripts for Reflections in a Golden Eye and Is Paris Burning? and earning his first Oscar® for Best Adapted Screenplay for Patton (with Edmund H. North). The filmmaker then climbed his way up the low-budget ladder to ultimately direct Fred Astaire in a feature adaption of Finian's Rainbow (1968) and to write and direct The Rain People (1969).

In the 1970s, Coppola made the series of movies that cemented his reputation as one of the most influential writer/directors of all time. Since the 1980s, Coppola has made a varied palette of studio and independent films, including Peggy Sue Got Married (1986), Tucker: The Man and His Dream (1988) and Bram Stroker's Dracula (1992) which earned three Academy Awards. In 2020, Coppola recut The Godfather: Part III, which garnered seven Oscar nominations, into the definitive version he always intended to make with Mario Puzo's The Godfather Coda: The Death of Michael Corleone.

ICG PUBLICISTS CELEBRATE WHO WE ARE & WHAT WE DO AT THE 2020 57TH ANNUAL ICG PUBLICISTS AWARDS LUNCHEON

In its 57th year the ICG Publicists Luncheon was stronger than ever. Some 700 publicists, executives, celebrities and press showed up at the Beverly Hilton on the Friday before Oscar night, February 2020 to recognize the creativity, ingenuity and hard work of our members.

Little did we know then how the world, our world, was about to change. There would be no luncheon in 2021. Many of us would lose our jobs, some would lose their lives. It was unthinkable. Yet it happened.

But in 2020 we celebrated, unknowing. Now, in 2022 we recall that celebration with 2020 hindsight.

Kicking off the occasion were organizing committee chair, Tim Menke and co-chair Sheryl Main in this their second year since the passing of long-time leader, Henri Bollinger.

Award Chairs, Sheryl Main and Tim Menke raise glasses to the late Henri Bollinger

Bob Yeager Award

Former ICG National President, Lewis Rothenberg presented the first award of the afternoon. The Bob Yeager Award for community service went to Rick Markovitz, president of Weissman/Markovitz Communications, an L.A.-based PR agency. He has worked with Autism Speaks, helped launch the Ed Asner Family Center and supports the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation and Voices for the Animals.

A somewhat taken-aback Markovitz, said that working with these various groups “really keeps our feet on the ground about what’s important in this world.” He said that he appreciated this recognition and “I hope that we all move forward to a more peaceful world where we’re able to talk to each other despite our differences.”

Lifetime Achievement Award

Seth McFarlane, himself an Emmy Award® winning and Oscar®-nominated multi-hyphenate, presented the Lifetime Achievement Award to the amazing Don Mischer. Seth said Mischer was a man whose professional success and personal good nature “have impressed the hell out of me for a very, very long time.” Jokingly he said that Don was “by far the least obnoxious thing ever to come out of Texas.”

Mischer has produced Olympic opening ceremonies, presidential inaugurations, the Oscars®, the Emmys®, the Tony Awards, the Kennedy Center Honors, Superbowl half-time shows, the 100th anniversary of Carnegie Hall and just about every major live event that's out there. He has received multiple honors over the years, including a couple of other Lifetime Achievement Awards from the DGA and the Producers Guild.

Seth said, "In an era when reality shows show people at their worst Don celebrates people at their best. At a time when experts are mistrusted and derided Don awards those at the top of their craft. And in a landscape that is increasingly polarized Don brings everyone together."

Accepting the Award, Mischer said, "I feel blessed that I've been able to make a living in a job that I love so much. I can tell you that even now, when we're counting down to a big live event, I still feel that thrill, that rush.

"But more than money and shiny trophies, the most rewarding part of my journey has been the people I've worked with, the people like you in this room. Your creativity, your dedication, your professionalism and passion are extraordinary."

He thanked all the publicists he's worked with over the years, specifically Annette Wolf, who has been his publicist and friend for much of the journey.

Henri Bollinger Award

Rebecca Rhine, ICG's National Executive

Director, presented the second-ever Henri Bollinger Award to Sheryl Main, following last year's award presented posthumously to Henri himself. The award, not given on an annual basis, recognizes an individual who optimizes the concept of special merit in the field of entertainment.

Rebecca said, "I feel a special thrill in being able to present this award to Sheryl who has always understood that the union isn't some building on Sunset Boulevard but a group of human beings who put principles before individual interests. Plus, she is very funny. Anyone who knows her knows that she is a formidable and principled advocate."

Sheryl, in addition to her movie publicity work was then California Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger's Deputy Communications Director and has served on the Guild's National Executive Board for more than 15 years.

Schwarzenegger, speaking via video, said, "You were one of the most unique and fantastic unit publicists around and you made your mark because you moved from movie to movie to movie to movie, were there on location handling all the publicity while we were shooting our films. But then there was great follow through. The studios sent you all around the world to do the publicity for us. You were then called 'mad dog.' We just loved your efficiency and your passion for your profession. And of course, you're a great human being."

Thanking Rebecca and Arnold, Sheryl said "I'm not a mad dog. I promise I'm not a mad dog. I used to be. I calmed down. What the hell am I doing up here? I have no idea.

If you knew Henri, you would know that Henri and I were a study in contrast. He was reserved and elegant and he never really raised his voice and he didn't like confrontation. So if he heard something he didn't like (after we merged with the International Cinematographers Guild) he would nudge me and say, 'you gotta get up and say something' so I got up and said something and eventually publicists got up to say stuff and then something happened where the camera folks started getting up and supporting publicists and finally we didn't have to worry about being an afterthought. And I have to say that I'm really proud that I was a part of having that voice for the guild and for the publicists."

Unit Still Photography awards

The Unit Still Photography Award for Television went to Nicole Rivelli (The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel, Dare Devil, The Punisher, Gotham). Nicole couldn't be there to accept as she was busy working in Marrakesh.

The Motion Picture awardee was Nico Travenise, but he too was away on location. Ryan McCormack accepting on his behalf, said, "For someone who spends most of his time staying out of talent eyeline and really trying to never be seen it's only appropriate that the Ninja, as Nico is often called, sends a proxy to accept this award on his behalf.

"Unit photography is a special fellowship of talented and hard-working men and women and I think it's important from the studio side to publicly remind all of you that we truly appreciate your efforts, sacrifice, and incredible work you continue to do."

Television Showperson of the Year

As Dawn Lynn Gardner, a star of the Oprah Winfrey Network's Queen Sugar, said of Ava DuVernay as she introduced her — "In recent years her name has become synonymous with champion, visionary, game changer." She mentioned motion pictures such as Selma, Thirteenth, When They See Us and "the show she cast me in four years ago, forever changing my life, Queen Sugar."

Ava DuVernay, an Emmy® and BAFTA® award-winning, Oscar® and Golden Globes® nominated director, writer, producer, and not inconsequently, a former long-time publicist, recalled with delight her time in the field and how she had always wanted to attend the Publicists Luncheon; the strategies, the pitch, the red carpets, securing a guest on a talk show, everything that makes a marketing campaign.

"The awards, the profiles, they're nice but they go to a lot of people's heads. They take it personally. It doesn't happen since we're the greatest thing since sliced bread, it happens because you have damn good marketers and publicists putting their talent behind ours, pushing us forward."

Maxwell Weinberg Award for Television Campaign

Winners were Gregg Brilliant, unit publicist and the Local 600 union publicists of Disney + who worked on Mandalorian. They were introduced by Jason Lewis, who has appeared in more than 50 shows, notably Sex and the City.

Les Mason Award

This is the most important award publicists can give one of their own, our version of a lifetime achievement award. This year Jennifer Aniston presented the award to Steven Huvane, head of Slate PR and her own publicist.

"He's been my confidant, he's been my cheerleader, he's been my personal bouncer, my life coach, my personal space keeper, thank you for that. And you know he's been my dear friend for 26 years.

"He's been there for me through highs and through lows and more tabloid rumors than I think any of us could have imagined."

She told the story of one particular occasion: “We were on what was supposed to be an hour flight from Toronto to New York City and we got caught in this electrical storm on a little tiny plane up in the sky. Lightning was coming at us from every single direction. We were just being thrown around like a little tin can and we were just like rocks inside this tin can. Everyone was screaming and crying, and you know, panicked and praying to whatever god you prayed to, and Steven literally looked at me calm as a yoga master and he said, Jen, this is totally normal. This happens. I was like have you been through this before? He said, yes. This is totally normal. Just think, pretend you’re on Space Mountain, it’s going to be like, it’s fun. And of course, the minute we touched our plane to the ground, we stepped off that airplane, Steven looked at me and went, ‘holy shit that was the scariest thing that’s ever happened to me in my entire life.’ You know, that’s the guy you gotta love, you gotta love that.”

In response Huvane said, “Those of you who are in the room who may know me as being this tough ass, overly protective publicist, what you really don’t know is I’m a total wuss.

“When I started this career 30 years ago, I never imagined I’d be up here accepting an award. I didn’t even know there was an award for publicist.”

He thanked all his “extraordinary clients” and noted that he had the luxury of working with some of the most talented, creative, mindful and thoughtful people he’d ever known.

International Media and Press Awards

In accepting the International Media Award, Nelson Aspen, of Sunrise, Australia, referred to publicists as “the oil that greases the machine.”

Clark Collis of Entertainment Weekly, recipient of the Press Award, joked that if he knew he was going to win he’d be less drunk. This was his first award ever.

Publicist of the Year

This is a brand-new award and, as its presenter, Leslee Dart co-CEO of 42 West, said,

Studio publicists Hollace Davids and Charlie McKinnies present the International Media Award

it is long overdue. Unlike the Les Mason Award, which is given out for career achievements, this, as the name indicates, recognizes the work done in the previous year. It can be for a unit publicist, a studio or agency publicist or an independent publicist.

Leslee said that she was one those fortunate individuals with a front row view “to this person’s greatness for a very long time and a particularly good seat in the last few years.” The person she was referring to was Rachel Aberly, herself of 42 West. A particular passion for Rachel is to tell the stories of “craft artists,” cinematographers, production designers, costume designers, film editors, sound technicians and visual effects supervisors.

Accepting the award, Rachel said, “When I fell into publicity, it was a bazillion years ago, I really loved it for all the reasons that Leslee said and a lot of the reasons Ava said, but what I really loved about it was that I felt like I found my tribe.”

Motion Picture Showperson of the Year

Note the use of the word Showmen, because this year the award went to two men, two brothers, two partners – Anthony and Joe Russo.

As presenter Don Cheadle pointed out, they have together conquered the worldwide box office market. They directed four Marvel Studios movies. Avengers: Endgame, the highest grossing film of all time, brought in $2.79 billion, obliterating the record set by their earlier film, Avengers: Infinity War. Together, the four movies have grossed more than $6.7 billion.

Thanking the ICG Publicists for the entire awards ceremony, they said it had been a really wonderful experience, from the presenters to the recipients. They thanked the publicity teams from Disney for their guidance everywhere they went to promote their films.

They explained that they grew up in a large Italian family where they would sit around the dinner table and tell each other stories. “To be able to now tell stories to a larger audience is a really amazing opportunity for us.”

Maxwell Weinberg Award for Motion Picture Campaign

Paul Feig, director of Bridesmaids, Last

Christmas and Dark Army, presented the award to the team from Warner Bros who worked on Joker. To publicists as a whole he said, “Without you guys we are nothing.”

Speaking on behalf of her colleagues SVP, Suzanne Fritz said, “This movie that was supposedly about a comic character was much more so a social commentary on a world lacking compassion and without empathy and we knew right away that we had something incredibly special and it would be incredibly challenging as well to bring to market. So this team did just that. I’m so proud of them.”

STEPHEN HUVANE

RECIPIENT OF THE 2020 LES MASON AWARD

Nominee's Statement: 2020 will mark my 30th year as a personal publicist. Having started as an assistant at BWR and then on to Geller & Associates, in 1995 I cofounded Huvane Baum Halls and later merged with PMK in 2001. In 2010 along with my partners we formed SLATE PR. I have spent my entire career looking after the PR for artists. From Oscar, Emmy, Tony and Grammy campaigns, I pride myself in strategic long-term planning for the creative and highly value the long-term relationships with clients and other PR professionals, journalists, photographers and editors. I am extremely fortunate to have built a career that continues to inspire and excite me.

Publicist Stephen Huvane, recipient of the 2020 Les Mason Award with his client Jennifer Aniston who presented the Award.

When I received the news that I would be awarded the Les Mason Lifetime Achievement Award at the 2020 Publicist Guild Awards luncheon, I was thrilled to say the least. As a personal publicist working a long career promoting others and attending countless award shows where everyone else is the recipient, the idea of getting an award for my lifetime career work seemed overwhelming. After all, who knew when we all gathered at the Beverly Hilton Jan 2020 it would be one of the last times, we would see each other in person for almost 18 months? The World drastically changed for everyone shortly after the luncheon and things will never be the same again.

What I remember most about that afternoon was how heartwarming it felt to see so many of my peers that I have known and worked with for the past 30 plus years. I thought to myself, what a great privilege it was to have had the opportunity to know and love so many of these amazing people in the entertainment publicity world, and to see so many of them thriving. My longtime client and friend Jennifer Aniston presented the award to me. I know first-hand that public speaking is Jennifer's least favorite thing to do, and the fact that she was there on my behalf basically moved me to tears. I am known to be a bit of a "leaker" when it comes to sentimentality. My husband and several of my siblings were there to support me as well and the entire ballroom felt full of love and support.

In my acceptance speech I wanted to acknowledge some of the most important people in my career, from Nanci Ryder who hired me as her assistant back in 1989 to my current partners at SLATE PR, (Robin Baum, Simon Halls, Ina Treciakos and Andy Gelb), who continue to inspire me to be the best I can be and are true trusted friends. I remember looking out into the audience and spotting so many people that I had not seen in years and wanting to go down and hug them all. It felt really special to be included in a community of professionals that I truly respect and admire. So many of us do not like being in the spotlight but spend so much of our time directing the spotlight on to our clients.

When I look at the list of past recipients for the Les Mason Lifetime Achievement Award I still cannot believe I am now on that list. I felt so honored and privileged that afternoon and will remember it as one of the highlights of my career.

RACHEL ABERLY

RECIPIENT OF THE 2020 PUBLICISTS OF THE YEAR AWARD

Nominee's Statement: I'm always fascinated by behind the camera craftspeople - artists, experts, generous teachers and friends. This year I am working on groundbreaking movies led by the crew – 1917, Jojo Rabbit, Joker, Lion King, Rocketman, Ford v Ferrari among others. Publicizing them raises my bar and makes me a better publicist.

Rachel Aberly (right) of 42West, the first ever recipient of the Publicist of the Year Award, with presenter Leslee Dart, co-CEO of 42West.

So, I've been asked to reflect upon receiving the first Publicist of the Year Award. That year, of course, was 2020. The year Covid shut down the world. The year of our long overdue national – indeed, global - racial reckoning. The year our country and Constitution came under attack by home grown zealots. Quite a year indeed.

I was and am completely gobsmacked that my peers decided to bestow this award to me. Deep down, I am quite an introvert (don't laugh) and I love my place BEHIND the camera. I am forever grateful that this community has supported me throughout my meandering career, embraced my wacky ideas, encouraged my enthusiasm for promoting the crew and always provided a safe space for me to succeed – and, more importantly, to fail. I always feel like I have a safety net beneath me, held with love by my fellow publicists.

I hope that whomever receives this award next feels similarly buoyed by our village.

RICK MARKOVITZ

RECIPIENT OF THE 2020 BOB YEAGER AWARD FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE

Rick Markovitz, President of Weissman/Markovitz Communications, has worked in executive-level positions with global advertising agencies, major entertainment companies, as well as leading technology-based firms for more than 30 years. Having started in the movie business as a fieldman for Columbia Pictures in Philadelphia before jumping into the online world, Rick offers clients innovation combined with showmanship. The inclusion of awards expertise started over 15 years ago working with such groups as the Art Directors Guild, the Make-Up Artists & Hair Stylists Guild, the Location Managers Guild International, the ICG Emerging Cinematography Awards and ICG Publicists Awards Luncheon. A graduate of Trinity College, Hartford, CN, Rick is also a member of the ICG Publicists (IATSE Local 600), the Public Relations Branch of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and the Public Relations Peer Group of the Television Academy. He also serves on the Los Angeles Board of the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA).

Since helping people receive awards is one of my professional skills, actually receiving such special recognition as the Bob Yeager Award means a great deal and serves as a starting point for some modest self-reflection. The two thoughts that come to mind are the contributions I have tried to make and the significance of the recognition from my peers.

While the award is for my contributions beyond our actual work, in my case, it is the tools of my trade that have allowed me to contribute back. The projects I have helped support with my colleagues have included several events for autism related causes and other community initiatives. Over the years we have been blessed to assist such groups as the Ed Asner Family Center, Autism Speaks, Autism Society of America, the Miracle Project, Make-A-Wish, Big Brothers Big Sisters LA, and the Juvenile Diabetes Research Fund (JDRF). Supporting these various efforts is fulfilling because we get immersed in the cause and learn a great deal about the people and challenges faced by the cause.

Thinking about the day of the event brings back pleasant memories of seeing old friends and renewal of my professional passions. The ICG Publicists Awards Luncheon serves as a major milestone for our community as we mark another year in the very dynamic world of entertainment. (Missing last year's in-person event because of Covid served as a reminder that things were not normal and we would need resilience to come through this together.) My colleagues discreetly arranged for my wife to attend the luncheon to witness the recognition when the time came. As I sat at the table I was unprepared for the news. Ed Asner was on hand to make this presentation. I had spent enough time with Ed at various events to feel a connection, if not personal certainly from his body of work and, more importantly, his courageous service to the industry. I certainly looked up to him. When he announced my name and I experienced the recognition and applause of my peers, it was a very special moment indeed. Now I got to walk to the stage, as I had helped so many others, and receive a trophy and a hug from an inspirational person, a father figure even, and it warms my heart to this day. By giving to others, we continue to grow by helping to make the world a better place.

PREVIOUS LAUREATES OF THE BOB YEAGER AWARD FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Bob Yeager Award honors a member who has distinguished himself or herself in fields outside of their particular profession in pursuit of the betterment of society. Eligibility consists of membership and concerted efforts over a period of time toward uplifting the human condition. Civic, charitable, artistic volunteer work and sacrifice in any field that benefits a segment of mankind is recognized by the committee to honor the memory of brother Bob Yeager.

SHERYL MAIN

RECIPIENT OF THE 2020 HENRI BOLLINGER AWARD FOR SPECIAL MERIT

Sheryl Main is a publicity and marketing strategist with over 25 years' experience in both the entertainment and political arenas. Main began her career in film production in New York City before relocating to Los Angeles, where she would eventually work at Warner Bros. Pictures as Senior Publicist/Project Executive in the International department. In 2000, Main blended her love for production with her love for publicity by becoming a unit publicist. In that capacity she joined forces with action star, Arnold Schwarzenegger, working on several titles in which he starred. In 2004, Governor Schwarzenegger tapped Main for his communications team where she served as Deputy Communications Director and Director of Foreign and Specialty Media for nearly four years. Currently, Main serves on the National Executive Board of the International Cinematographers Guild, helping create educational programs for publicists, and serves as a mentor to publicists through the ICG Mentorship Program. She received the ICG Publicists Bob Yeager Award for Community Service in 1998.

When I received the call I was being honored with the inaugural Henri Bollinger Award my first reaction was no thank you. Receiving recognition has never been a comfortable place for me, further complicated by the expectation of living up to the standards of “a person who epitomizes the definition of special merit in the field of entertainment.” I felt a tad inadequate. But I also felt humbled and honored and hoped that Henri would be proud of the choice. I had a tremendous amount of respect for Henri - He was a gifted professional, had a wonderful sense of humor and was always willing to share his thoughtful and insightful advice. We were a bit of an odd couple for sure but we forged a strong partnership and friendship. I became Henri’s ‘wing man’ and he became my mentor.

As elected members of the National Executive Board representing Publicists, Henri and I, along with the other NEB reps, worked hard to ensure publicists were treated with dignity and parity after the merger between the Publicists Guild 818 and Local 600. Henri was the brains and I was the mouthpiece, speaking up at meeting’s and constantly pushing the powers that be to take publicists and our issues seriously. I am proud of the work we accomplished over the years and as we continue the work without Henri’s guidance I realize how fortunate we all were to have him as an advocate for who we are and what we do. I have tried to carry that mantle to the best of my ability and make an effort every day to live up to the standards Henri set.

Winning the Press Award in 2020 meant a great deal to me at the time—it isn't every day you get to be celebrated alongside the, infinitely more deserving, likes of Ava DuVernay and Don Mischer. The ICG Publicists ceremony was also the last significant event I attended before the world turned upside down and the memory of seeing so many friends and colleagues is one I have thought about frequently and fondly in the time since. ## 2020 INTERNATIONAL MEDIA AWARD WINNER

After nearly three decades of international reporting, 19 with my current outlet SUNRISE, it was truly “an honor just to be nominated” as the cliché goes. I love being part of the business of Show Business and especially appreciate the synchronicity of working with my colleagues in Publicity. Receiving the award after 5 nominations (and a congratulatory hug from Jennifer Aniston) was a career highlight I continue to cherish with pride and affection. # Honorably Withdrawn

Honorably Withdrawn members are former active members of the union who are often executives at major studios and production companies, as well as agency owners who have chosen to continue their association with the union but do not vote on union issues. The union welcomes their association and desire to be listed in the ICG Publicists Directory and Resource Book.
